Description

This 2022 BMW i4 M50 is an all-electric vehicle that has had only one owner from new. As a BMW manufacturer approved car, it offers peace of mind regarding its condition and history. The vehicle features a four-wheel drive drivetrain and is powered by an 84 kWh battery, which provided a maximum range of 318 miles when new. For home charging, a full charge using a 7kW unit takes 12 hours and 30 minutes, while the fastest public charging option can replenish the battery from empty to 80% in just 34 minutes. The M50 variant is designed for performance, capable of accelerating from 0-62mph in 3.9 seconds. Practicality is well considered, as the car includes a large boot space for your belongings. Inside, the cabin is equipped with the M Sport Pro Pack and features electric memory seats for added comfort. Technology is integrated throughout, with a Driving Assistant and Parking Assistant that includes a rear camera to help with manoeuvres.

Additionally, the interior includes a dedicated storage area for wireless charging, allowing you to keep your phone powered while on the move.
